Dear Malcolm and Virginia

Now it is the last of Feb. and I am not through writing letters that should have been written long ago. please pardon me for not acknowledging the poetry things you sent me as before for your Grandmother has had you often in her ^{thoughts} ~~mind~~ The lovely visit we had at St Paul together I am wondering if your children are much changed if Virginia is still fond of dolls, and both the pictures shows and how you are getting on in your studios

But Malcolm how did it happen your nose was broken & was much concerned about it at first but when I remembered your Grandfather had his nose broken twice and his nose was in no way disfigured

I concluded yours would be all right - But don't let it happen again - - We have had a miserable winter here in Georgia so much rain and cloudy weather I feel sometimes like caged bird I have been able to go out so little we are longing for Spring and sunshine - - My eyes troubled me a good deal just after the Holidays and for a while you up writing and reading and this was a great privation for me but they are much better

How are you all? I am most anxious to see little Betty Anne, I expect she is fast getting out of her babyhood and escaping from the bottle we are all in our usual health Aunt Harriet joins me in love to all --

Your Affe Great grandmother Mama F. Scott.
